Implementation of the Recommendations of the Procurement Reform Task Force

Post-Close-Out Update

On November 23, 2022, the Department of Procurement Services (DPS) provided via email to the Office of Inspector General (OIG) a document entitled “Close-Out and Status Report of the Chicago Procurement Reform Task Force – October 2022”. Among other things, the report stated that the “Chicago Procurement Information website” was available at <https://procurementinfo.chicago.gov>.

On February 21, 2023, OIG published Implementation of the Recommendations of the Procurement Reform Task Force, its progress report responding to the November 2022 Close-Out and Status Report of the Chicago Procurement Reform Task Force. OIG reported that the “Chicago Procurement Information website” reported by DPS was not available, and that <https://procurementinfo.chicago.gov> led to a page that read: “This site can’t be reached.” See Implementation of the Recommendations of the Procurement Reform Task Force at 10-11.

On February 22, 2023, DPS informed OIG that it had provided the incorrect website in its close-out report and, for the first time, provided a new address for the Chicago Procurement Information website:
<https://www.chicago.gov/city/en/sites/procurementinformation/home.html>.
